ISSUE 2000!

Milestone moment: A perspective

By Mark Frost
Chronicle Editor

You know the best thing about this being the 2,000th issue of the newspaper I started on a $1,700 investment in September 1980? The best thing is that we're still doing it, still in business after more than 43 years.

You know the second best thing? The second best thing is that now — for the first time ever — I can say, we've done this thousands of times.

That's a lot of times, none of which we take for granted.

Nor do we take for granted the steadfast support so many readers, businesses and the community accord us. Wait until you see the ads inside this issue.

Humbling because it makes

County: Prepping for asylum seekers, not reject- ing them

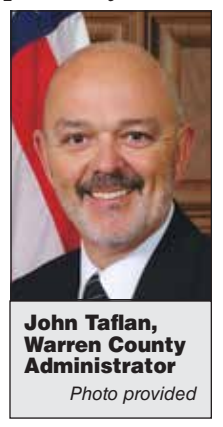

Warren County Administrator John Taflan writes:

On May 23rd, Warren County issued Emergency Order 1 of 2023 to preempt the unilateral relocation of groups of asylum seekers from New York City to Warren County.

I wanted to explain the purpose behind this Emergency Order and the steps Warren County has taken since the issuance of that order.

First and foremost, it is not our intent to prevent migrants from coming to Warren County. We have jobs here that migrants could possibly fill.

Warren County has always

Says kennel owner depicted unfairly

To the Editor:

I have never written a letter to the editor before, however after much thought felt it was time I did. I found the article in the Memorial Day issue about "Alfie" the dog very upsetting.

Don't get me wrong, I am very happy he was found unharmed after his journey around Glens Falls last year. However, every article on the story last year as well as this year paints a very one sided picture.

Mike Tartaglione, the owner of GFK9, was put down and ridiculed by your paper and I find its unjust to do so. There

Incensed at 'Happy Memorial Day'

Dear Editor:

Late yesterday morning, while driving into Vermont, I was greeted with a [Department of Transportation] flashing electric sign with the message "Happy Memorial Day." It precipitated an emotional and angry verbal response the
