GF acts on City Park 'day spenders'

By Cathy DeDe & Ben Westcott
Chronicle Managing Editor & Staff Writer

Groups of people hanging out all day in City Park, sleeping on benches, congregating, often loudly, around the bricked half-circle sidewalk on Maple Street that is a main pathway to Crandall Public Library was noticeable all summer and has continued into the fall.

"I'd say there's about two dozen people that make up this group. It changes. You'll see about a dozen there" at any time, Mayor Bill Collins told The Chronicle.

"It's not that they're homeless," he says.

"Many of them have a place to sleep, and they know what all the services are that are available, but they are failing, for lack of a better word, they are failing at life."

"They've been thrown out of one or all service agencies" — "sanctioned," he says, typically for breaking the rules.

"They're not transients. These

5,100 for Thunder opener!

Chronicle Managing Editor Cathy DeDe writes: Huge and electric crowd for the Adirondack Thunder's 10th anniversary season home opener on Saturday night, Oct. 26. The team said 5,100+ attended, all seats sold, standing room only and all the upper level luxury boxes full.

Miss New York State Abigail Quammen dropped the first puck. Kelly Casey sang the National Anthem in memory of her dad, storied Adirondack Red Wings trainer Dave Casey, who passed away this summer.

Shane Harper was in the house — deafening roar when the crowd-pleasing forward, now retired, and his family waved on the jumbo screen and announcer Dan Miner called a shout-out to "Harp."

An up-beat video montage celebrated the Thunder's decade in Glens Falls.

Wryly faults sign: Slow children at play

Dear Mark,

While driving by Crandall Park the other day, I noticed a new sign that read "Slow Children At Play." I find this quite offensive and I must speak up for slow children everywhere.

I realize that their inability to move or think quickly is an issue but incredibly stigmatizing. I have seen this sign in several Glens Falls neighborhoods and this needs to stop.

On the other hand, we could simply add punctuation. "Slow! Children At Play." Perhaps this

We asked our digital subscribers was: What will you do if your candidate for President loses? Some of the replies....

I'm not sure. I've thought about leaving the country as I know there'll be civil strife. But, I will stay and fight for our democracy. I will not allow a dictator to run our country, nor someone who has a mental incapacity.

Paula Collins
Democratic, Working Families

I am an attorney, living in Dekalb Junction, in St. Lawrence County. I am running for Congress to bring North Country representation back to the people.

I'm going to Congress because we need a proactive climate change policy at the federal level. We cannot wait for storms to happen and then react. Congress must pass a policy now to mitigate and develop communities informed by what we know will happen to our earth in the coming years.

I'm going to Congress to support the Harris/Walz Opportunity Economy, which includes $25,000 first time homebuyer assistance, a $50,000 tax credit for new businesses, and a $6,000 first year child tax credit.

NY21's current representative cannot act independently. She is so closely aligned with Donald Trump that her focus is on issues that do not improve life for the North Country.

NY21 needs a representative who puts local needs ahead of Trump's needs.

Elise M. Stefanik
Republican, Conservative

This is the most important election of our lifetimes. Serving you has been the greatest honor of my life, and I will continue to work tirelessly every day to deliver real results for hardworking families, small businesses, farms, students, seniors, service members, military families, law enforcement officers, and veterans in Upstate NY and the North Country.

To date, we have returned over $800 million in taxpayer funds back to our district, $214 million for rural hospitals and healthcare programs, $10 million for broadband expansion, $5.8 million for veterans, $4 million for seniors.

We must put an end to the Biden-Harris Administration's radical Far Left Democrat policies, secure our northern and southern borders, and revitalize our economy. As House GOP Conference Chair, I am unapologetic about fighting each day to give you a seat at the absolute highest levels of government.

I humbly ask once again for your vote.

AngioDynamics to stay in Qby.

By Ben Westcott & Zander Frost
Chronicle Staff Writers

AngioDynamics reversed its decision to close locally and will continue some operations — retaining 40% of its current workforce in Queensbury.

Town Supervisor John Strough told The Chronicle, “AngioDynamics’ new business plan to stay in Queensbury and maintain some of their mid-tech cardiovascular and on-cology device manufacturing and grow their distribution program out of the same facility is wonderful news for our region.”

Reverses plan to close at cost of 350 jobs; will retain 40%; some will retire.

“The Town of Queensbury stands with our neighbor municipalities in offering whatever assistance AngioDynamics needs to sustain their new business plan.”

In January, AngioDynamics said it would close in Glens Falls and Queensbury in 2025 at the cost of 350 jobs.

Saleem Cheeks, VP Communications for AngioDynamics, told The Chronicle Tuesday the plan to close was driven by factors including “the hangover from the pandemic” and “workforce challenges we were facing. We couldn’t find enough people to work at our facility,” he said. Supply chain constraints were also a factor.

“It was a reluctant decision we had to make,” Mr. Cheeks said. “We didn’t want to leave this area.”

He said, “We went back, sharpened our pencils, and put more meat on the bone...and we were able to come up with a plan that addressed all of those needs in a way that made sense for us to maintain a presence in the area.”

“What this plan does is build resiliency in our supply chain, utilizing a very talented workforce, and it allows us to right-size our footprint in a way that we can fully staff and meet our customer needs and growing demand,” he said.

Tuesday, he said, “We met with everyone that works in our facilities in the Warren County area and we talked to them in-person and conveyed the news.”

“People were surprised...This update was welcome news,” Mr. Cheeks said.

“We see a long-term future here. This is where we’re going to be. AngioDynamics was born here...and our growth is going to be driven here.”

Mr. Strough said Mr. Cheeks told him “40% of their current workforce” will be retained...I was assured that most of the other 60% will pursue retirement or be deployed within the company elsewhere...

“Because this is part of their new business plan, I was assured that this would be sustainable.”

“If help was needed, I assured Mr. Cheeks, the Town Board will work with and help AngioDynamics.”

Mr. Cheeks said that when Angio told the Warren County Economic Development Corporation it would be trying to refine its plan, “they made it very clear, ‘we want you here, we’ll do what it takes to get you here.’” He said Mr. Strough told him time and again: “Whatever you need, please let us know.”

Mr. Cheeks said, “We’ve had great partners in government and in the community, and that definitely helped us know that we not only were wanted, but that we had true partners to help mitigate some of the headwinds that we were experiencing as a business neighbor here in the community.”

State OCM confiscates Exit 17 cannabis crop in Moreau

By Ben Westcott
Chronicle Staff Writer

The Town of Moreau announced on its Facebook page that the cannabis crop at the 63 Spier Falls Road property off of Exit 17 owned by Saratoga Springs-based Shangri-La Real Estate Holdings has been confiscated by the state's Office of Cannabis Management.

The crop has caused consternation among residents and visitors complaining of the odor the plants have given off.

The Facebook post noted that the town has been informed that "the growers have had the cannabis licenses they held in Washington County suspended by OCM."

A representative of OCM told The Chronicle, "An investigation is pending on this matter, and the Office of Cannabis Management cannot comment at this time."

The Chronicle attempted to reach out to a Shangri-La owner for comment and to ask where the company had held cannabis licenses in Washington County, but an email sent to the address a Shangri-La owner provided at a recent Moreau town board meeting came back with a "couldn't be delivered" message.

The Chronicle previously reported that Shangri-La is owned by father-son duo Orson and Devin Klender.

The Town of Moreau became aware of "what appeared to be a growing operation" for cannabis at the Spier Falls Road site back on July 25, The Chronicle previously reported.

In a letter viewed by The Chronicle from Moreau Town Supervisor Jesse Fish to town residents, Mr. Fish cited a letter from OCM to State Senator Jim Tedisco stating that OCM sent investigators to the Spier Falls Road site and issued a cease and desist order on Oct. 10 in reaction to its "operating without an OCM license, in violation of law and regulation."

That letter said OCM was made aware of the cannabis operation "through public complaints received on Sept. 25 and 27."

But Mr. Fish insisted in his letter that "the town had already begun to take action. The town emailed OCM on July 30. A request for information came from OCM on Aug. 8 and the town provided that on the same day."

Mr. Fish also said in the letter that on Oct. 16, a Shangri-La owner stopped in his office and told him that a cease and desist order was in place.

"That order required the operation to stop, mid-harvest, which resulted in the continued cannabis smell in the area," Mr. Fish wrote.

He wrote that two days later he received a call from the Shangri-La owner stating that the cease and desist order had been temporarily lifted by OCM, "so the operation could complete their harvest" by Oct. 23 at the latest.

Mr. Fish noted in his letter that at the Oct. 16 meeting in his office, the Shangri-La owner "acknowledged that the cannabis operation had not received authorization or licensing from OCM to operate."

Mr. Fish closed his letter to residents, "As the town navigates this unexpected and unwelcome situation, I thank you for your continued patience. We are working hard to make sure Moreau residents never have to endure this again."

I'm running for Assembly because I believe Albany is out of touch with the challenges everyday New Yorkers are facing. As a former business owner and a member of the Greenwich Planning Board, I've seen how high taxes, overregulation, and rising costs are driving people and businesses out of our state. I want to change that.

As a father of two daughters I want to make our state more affordable and a better place to live.

We need to lower taxes, reduce the burdens on small businesses, and make New York more affordable for families. I'm also deeply concerned about the rising crime rates. Our communities deserve to feel safe again, and that means standing up for law enforcement and implementing common-sense policies that protect us. We clearly need change in this state. We deserve representatives that will improve New York State, not just continue the status quo.

Carrie Woerner

Democratic

I'm running for re-election because we need people in government who are willing to collaborate and work across party lines to tackle the challenges people face. I've passed nearly 70 important new bills that do just that.

Our region is an incredible place to call home, with lively downtowns and productive farmlands — but we need to make it more affordable for people to grow their families and businesses here.

This year we took steps to put more money back in people's pockets including an accelerated middle-class tax cut, a historic increase for municipalities to help keep property taxes in check, and assistance programs for people struggling with utility costs.

For families with children, we expanded the Empire State Child Tax Credit.

While these efforts are a strong start, there's still work to be done.

I'm committed to exploring innovative, practical solutions to make Upstate New York more affordable for everyone.

Near Matt Secor Brazilian JiuJitsu, his mom; 2 partners plan 'Triedntru' cannabis

By Zander Frost
Chronicle Staff Writer

Cynthia Secor of South Glens Falls and sisters Khadijah and Asia Peek of the Albany area plan to open "Triedntru" cannabis dispensary in South Glens Falls next to Matt Secor Brazilian JiuJitsu at the Glen Gate Shopping Center.

Cynthia Secor is Matt Secor's mother. She and the Peek sisters connected because Khadijah trains with Matt and is a Brazilian JiuJitsu black belt. (Asia is a psychiatrist.)

Khadijah, an attorney and real estate broker, lives in Niskayuna, "and I'm always in South Glens Falls, because I'm always training up there. And I do plan on moving up there. I've just been a little slow about it."

Khadijah previously worked for the New York State Senate on cannabis policy — and long aimed to open a dispensary.

"I had been talking to Matt about it for a long time, and he had put me in contact with his mom," she said.

Cynthia is retired after working for 36 years for the New York State Office of People with Developmental Disabilities. "I just wanted to build up something," she says. "I've lived here all my life. So keep something for my kids, my grandkids."

They began their application in 2021. Khadijah said they were just approved by the Office of Cannabis Management.

She said they had Planning Board approval for a different location but they'll need it again. "But we've had good support from the mayor and the planning board," she said. They'll also still need final compliance okay from the state.

Their "ambitious" open date is December. "The realistic one falls within January, February," Khadijah said.

She said her path to the cannabis business started in government.

In 2019, "I started at the New York State Senate, and I worked for the Chair of the Senate banks committee. He tasked me to be his subject matter expert on cannabis, because, at the time, he was trying to find a cannabis and banking solution...."

"Through all that, I learned so much about the industry, and I met a lot of really cool people and got to travel a lot in my work that I saw that this was something that I wanted to do," she said.

With so many dispensaries opening up

The Chronicle asked, can they all survive? "Realistically, I don't know if all these dispensaries are going to be successful being so close to each other," Khadijah said. "I think it's going to come down to who has better branding and who has the better business acumen."

"I don't want to say I don't agree with the OCM giving out all of these licenses," she added. "But you also have to be strategic with it — because there's a reason why Apple didn't open up multiple locations, that there's only one Apple store in Crossgates Mall where everyone has to go to if they have an issue — because they don't want to be in competition with themselves."

New York State Cannabis Law "establishes a goal to award 50% of all adult-use licenses to Social & Economic Equity (SEE) applicants" — applicants from the following: • Individual from a Community Disproportionately Impacted • Distressed farmer • Service-disabled veteran-owned business • Minority-owned businesses • Women-owned businesses.

A nation finding its way?

By Mark Frost
 Chronicle Editor

I'll spare you any suspense. I won't endorse Trump or Kamala.

I also won't predict who wins. Polls indicate it's so close that it can flip either way. That applies not just to the Presidency but to control of the Senate and House too.

One party or the other may yet make a clean sweep. In a nation as closely divided as we are, that in itself may be perilous.

At least everyone agrees on the big issue: Our democracy itself is in danger.

But who poses the bigger threat? Who will save U.S.? I have a lifelong friend who wrote me, "Only one ticket wants America to continue as a democracy."

I replied, "Such thinking may get Trump elected." Whatever you think, half the country feels opposite. Dismissing the other side's patriotism powers divide.

Some see Trump and all his voters as racists, bigots, misogynists — haters and "deplorables" who have no decency, no civility, no commitment to democratic standards and norms.

There's no downplaying or dismissing what Trump and his legions did on Jan. 6 — the election outcome denial, the attempt to thwart the democratic transition.

Add to that the unforced errors. Sunday at Trump's Madison Square Garden rally a comedian said "there's literally a floating island of garbage in the middle of the ocean...I think it's called Puerto Rico."

Pretty bad. I thought, Trump did himself in this time. "Trump faces a P.R. disaster," headlined Politico.

The New York Times: "Harris Aides Quietly Grow More Bullish...While still cautious, advisers and allies believe that casting Donald Trump as a fascist is working, and that their expansive ground game and appeals on abortion rights may carry the day."

Enter President Biden, who delivered a gift to the GOP on Tuesday. "The only garbage I see floating out there is his supporters," he said.

Elitist condemnation is jet fuel for Trump's campaign. When he won eight years ago, Thomas Sowell, a black man who's an intellectual giant you never heard of because he's a conservative, said Trump's victory "represents the biggest backlash...among smug elites in Western nations, where increasing numbers of ordinary people are showing their anger at where those elites are leading their countries..."

Canada has even turned on Justin Trudeau.

We face so many real issues.

On the home front, Democrats say the economy is great and inflation is over, but angst abounds. The flood of illegal immigrants is increasingly costly and unpopular.

Overseas, the Ukraine war looks like a quagmire, and our sanctions on Russia not only failed to deter Putin, they turned him closer to China and North Korea — three nasty players with bad intentions. In the Middle East, Israel is at war on four or five fronts, Iran lurking. Dashed is Trump's Abraham Accords that actually gave hope of headway in Arab-Israel relations.

When Kamala was asked by a friendly interviewer what she would do differently than Joe, she said nothing came to mind. Do voters want more of the same? That may be the crux of this election.

Social issues are also at the center of the fray.

Most of America is at least okay if not downright ardent that a woman has the right to decide on an abortion. It's a mighty damaging issue for Republicans.

But some other progressive agenda has turned problematic if not radioactive. Kamala said government should pay for inmates' and illegal immigrants' gender transition surgery. A Trump commercial ends "Kamala cares about they/them. Trump cares about you."

Both sides wield zingers. Trump's "Take America Back" drew the perfect retort: "We Aren't Going Back."

More issues to talk about than we have space for. Highest on my list: Protecting freedom of the press, freedom of speech; curbing the totalitarian state.

I support Rep. Elise Stefanik for re-election.

She accomplished something huge and important this term. She laid bare the intolerance, hate and anti-Semitism that have taken hold at Ivy League and other elite and not so elite colleges. She changed the nation's conversation, raised its consciousness.

It's a no for me on New York State's Prop One.

I think it will open a Pandora's box of lawsuit grounds. The New York Times insists it's to guarantee the right to abortion but abortion isn't mentioned, and it's certainly not at risk in New York. We're at too fraught and divided a time to make big changes to the constitution.

LG Town Council

One year unexpired term

Bob Dillon Democratic

I'm running because I believe Lake George will undergo significant growth and quality of life changes in the future. There are many issues associated with that from shortages of housing (work force seasonal and year round, seniors), cost of living increases (especially seniors), crime, pollution, etc.

My goal is to preserve and maintain the amazing quality of life we have through carefully managed growth. We need to plan for a livable, sustainable, affordable, diverse and environmentally balanced community. The 3 top areas of concern: housing/development, environmentally balanced infrastructure needs, and holding the line on property taxes and cost of living.

I have 7 years prior town council experience in nearby Hartford NY (six as Deputy Supervisor) and believe as a fiscally conservative Democrat I'm the best choice going forward. The current board is all Republican which does not represent a balance of the demographics and diversity of the community.

Ed Pagnotta, Jr.

Republican

As a local business owner, I am deeply invested in supporting and nurturing the vitality of our town's economic landscape. It is paramount to me to not only advocate for the success of our local businesses but also to actively foster and promote sustainable economic growth within Lake George. With deep, generational ties to this community, I am profoundly committed to making a positive impact. My goal is to leverage my experience and dedication to elevate the quality of life for all Lake George residents, ensuring our town thrives while preserving its unique character. Preserving the natural beauty of Lake George and the Adirondacks is everyone's responsibility. I will try to listen to experts regarding environmental issues and make informed decisions on what's best for are town.

If elected, I will try and listen to all concerns of Lake George residents and do my best to represent everyone.

Kendall McKernon gallery to be open this weekend

Following the unexpected death on October 24 of Hudson Falls mainstay Kendall McKernon, his McKernon Gallery and shop at 216 Main Street will remain open, at least for this weekend and potentially beyond.

Friends posted on Facebook, "Due to the outpouring of love and support from everyone who loved Kendall and everyone offering help in any way, we're going to open the gallery... on Saturday and Sunday November 2 and 3 (times TBD)." Note, purchases will be cash, Venmo, or check only.

"Proceeds from this weekend will support the unexpected expenses of such a huge loss to his daughter as well as the community of Hudson Falls.

"There are plans to continue Kendall's vision for the Gallery, but we wanted to give everyone a chance to visit HIS gallery now, before any changes are made.

"Plans for a Celebration of Life are underway on Sunday, Nov. 10, at The Sandy Hill Arts Center."

Q&A: What if your candidate for Prez loses?

electd, that they will be successful, and keep the needs of the American people foremost in mind. If my candidate loses, I will have the same attitude. I WANT our President to do well. I may have doubts, I may disagree with many things, as we all seemingly do, but I will hope and pray that our country is in good hands.

— John W. Murray, Hudson Falls

Probably lose everything I've worked for my whole life. Our cabin we built with our hard earned money and sweat. Choice of paying utilities, car payments or not eating. Last almost 4 years have crippled retirees and nearly wiped out everything we've worked for. Even bigger slap in the face, a paltry 2.5 % COLA in Soc. Security. Doesn't even come close to the percentage of inflation! 22 to 25% rise in grocery prices! God help us!

— Danny Hurlburt, Fort Edward

Initially, sobbing may happen. beyond that, long term mourning will take place, and the opportunity to learn how to cope with things i dont want.

— Christine Burke, Queensbury

Nothing, Mark. Our life will go on but sadly our national debt will destroy our country, it's only a matter of time. Look at any of the great empires that fell , they were not conquered, they self destruct from within. I'm very concerned for my grand children and their children. The tax payers and businesses can not continue to pay the taxes that our out of control government spends.

— Renny Devine, HF

Batten down the hatches for another rough 4 years. Plant my garden. Be a good steward of my natural resources and most importantly — Love my neighbors — regardless of how they voted.

— Scott Lufkin, Argyle

I will feel scared for our country

— Linda, HF

Mark,

If my candidate loses, I will accept it as the will of the people.

I will not burn down city hall or march in protest. I will not allow the media, especially like the discredited CNN or the Atlantic influence me as to what and how to think.

I will not stop eating nor will I be buying a coloring book. I will not stop talking to my friends who I know voted for the other guy or girl. I will not stop flying the American flag.

What I will do, is pray for whoever wins that they will do what's right in the eyes of the Lord.

Let there be peace on earth and let it begin with me, how about you?

— Dave Nicholson, Tet survivor Fort Edward

It will be just terrible for The United States of America if a deranged, unstable, delusional, Lying Hitler-obsessed wannabe Dictator becomes President no matter what perfect Economy he promises — or Lies about — to get votes! I am dreadfully frightened for the U.S.A. and the World!

— Susan S.Stein, Kattskill Bay

If TRUMP wins, enjoy life. If HARRIS wins, enjoy what's left of life.

— Tim D, Ft. Edward

Sit back, take a deep breath and be ready for a rough ride.

— Pat Boomhower, Halfmoon, NY

Pray for our Country!

— Kathy Flores, Queensbury

Be disappointed, plan for what the future may bring and look forward 4 years to when my pony will hopefully cross the finish line first.

— Todd K., Northumberland

I honestly don't know. I have a hard time falling asleep at night with all of the political trash spewing out of the mouths of con artists and loyalists. If Trump wins I will fall further into depression and worry about how I'm going to survive when our costs of everything rise. He has but one plan in his agenda. Vengeance. If you were against him, watch out.

— T.B., Fort Edward

NYS Senate, 43rd District

Jake Ashby

Republican, Conservative

My mission in Albany is simple — get New York back on the right track.

I voted against shipping $2.4 billion to New York City for failed migrant programs. I sponsor legislation to crack down on fentanyl dealers, to target repeat shoplifters, and to restore the discretion taken from judges by bail reform. I'm endorsed by the Police Conference of New York State, and I stood shoulder to shoulder with correction officers and their families to fight back against the governor's decision to close Great Meadow.

As a veteran, I understand that public service is a privilege. As a former clinician and practice operator, I know that we have to get healthcare costs under control. As an educator, I know that we need a workforce equipped to solve problems. As a parent, I know that we need to relieve the financial burdens facing every single family across our district.

Alvin Gamble

Democratic

Thank you to The Chronicle for the chance to address its readers. My name is Alvin Gamble. I graduated from Colonie Central High School and SUNY Brockport with a dual major in Criminal Justice and Sociology.

I was accepted into the New York State Trooper Academy but ultimately pursued a union career and have been with National Grid for over 40 years.

I am running for this position so that the residents of District 43 have a voice in the Senate.

With the current democratic supermajority, our district will have a better seat at the table with me as your Senator.

I support tax relief and reducing fi-financial burden on residents. This can be done while still providing important services to residents.

I will be a state senator for all residents. Rural, suburban, and urban; let's work together and find solutions that benefit everyone.

Ed Pagnotta Jr. & Bob Dillon vie for seat on LG Town Council

By Ben Westcott
Chronicle Staff Writer

Republican Ed Pagnotta Jr., 66, and Democrat Bob Dillon, 73, are vying to fill a Lake George Town Council seat. Election Day is Nov. 5.

Mr. Pagnotta is a life-long Lake George resident who graduated from Lake George High School. He was a business teacher at Minerva Central School for 32 years before retiring in 2020. He's owned the Barnsider Smokehouse BBQ restaurant for 30 years.

He earned his Bachelor's degree from Alfred University and an MBA from the College of St. Rose.

Mr. Pagnotta is currently on the town's Downtown Revitalization Initiative committee and sits on the Lake George Regional Chamber of Commerce's board. He served on the Lake George Planning Board for two years in the 80s. When he taught school he was involved with the union and served as Minerva's athletic director from 2017 to 2020.

Mr. Dillon moved to Lake George two years ago. Born and raised in Glens Falls, he graduated from the Northwood School in Lake Placid after attending junior high and high school in the Glens Falls School District and earned a bachelors degree in Business Administration from the University of Colorado Boulder.

Mr. Dillon said he had a "career on Madison Avenue in the television industries" in New York City.

In 2001, he moved to Hartford in Washington County where he served on the Town Council from 2013 to 2019 and was appointed deputy town supervisor.

Some jobs he's held in upstate New York include marketing director of the Lake Placid Film Forum, CEO of Adworkshop, and founder of Adirondack Strategic Marketing.

Mr. Pagnotta said that a shrinking school district and lack of affordable housing in Lake George is a concern.

"In the whole Adirondacks, the school districts are shrinking, and it's really about jobs and affordable housing," he said.

"When there's different projects in front of the board and the planning board, I think that it should be encouraged."

He added, "When the projects come to Lake George, I think we have to really be in tune with what they are offering. Is it expensive condominiums, apartments, or is it really affordable housing?"

He suggested "trying to partner with the planning board to look at the zoning for those projects."

Mr. Dillon said the biggest challenge Lake George faces is figuring out how to house and maintain a work force. He advocates for working with developers to figure out what part of new housing complexes will be affordable for the locals.

"There's got to be a balance," he said. "Otherwise you're just going to price everybody out. And then where do the workers come from?"

He said there's less housing available than there used to be. "Airbnbs are changing what used to be long-term rentals for workforce families and that sort of thing," Mr. Dillon said.

"My whole thing is how we're going to make this community livable and sustainable as we become better and better known" while not getting overdeveloped and too expensive.

"We have one of the greatest communities in the United States, and it's been discovered," Mr. Dillon said.

"And I just don't want to see future generations be priced out and pushed away. That's happened in a lot of areas. We've got to save the best for everyone, not just for the super rich."

Mr. Dillon argues, "It's time to look at a new comprehensive plan," noting that Glens Falls, Queensbury and Warren County are all undertaking new comprehensive plans, so "now would be the perfect time to get one into the works so that these communities can work together."

Mr. Pagnotta emphasized prioritizing tourism in Lake George and being "always on top of our game" in regards to that industry.

"Other tourist areas are trying to evolve and grow, and I think Lake George should keep doing that as well," he said.

He advocated for "using the resources and the land that we have to stimulate and encourage mountain biking, hiking, and things of that nature."

Mr. Dillon urges bipartisanship.

"I think that an all-Republican town board is not a balanced board, and even though I'd be the only Democrat, I still think it would be nice to have somebody that maybe has a little different approach," he said.

Mr. Pagnotta said he feels that he's "more in tune with what's going on" than Mr. Dillon because he's lived in Lake George all his life and raised a family and has a business in town.

He said he would strive to be level-headed and dedicated. "I always try to think out the problem," he said. "I don't want to just say things off the cuff."

To campaign, Mr. Pagnotta says, "I'm just trying to go out as much as I can and really go door to door."

Mr. Dillon says he's been campaigning by putting up a lot of signs and talking to people one on one.

Police: 14 arrests, 13 tickets

"We're certainly getting calls saying, 'I don't like seeing these people,'" Mayor Collins says, and such comments as "They're loud, they're swearing, they're doing illegal things. I can't get to the library with my 12-year-old daughter without exposing her to these people."

The mayor said that from May to September, the police recorded more than 200 blotter calls and police walk-throughs of City Park, including "one incidence of violence" — a knife stabbing between two women acquaintances, both under 18, "over a boyfriend," he said. He did not have details on where that stands now.

Police Chief Jared Smith reported for those five months four arrests for disorderly conduct, two arrests for harassment, six warnings for remaining in the park after dusk, four for open container, three for smoking, and eight arrests on warrants "discovered on routine ID checks."

"But it's not illegal to hang out in that public park all day long," Mayor Collins adds. "It's not illegal to be vulgar. It's not illegal to yell even obscenities at people.

For it to be actionable disorderly conduct, "there has to be a victim. We need to have a person report it," or for an officer to witness the offense first-hand.

He adds, "You can't arrest your way out of this."

The mayor says it's a phenomenon regionally — in Saratoga and Burlington, Vt. — and "in society in general."

Mayor Collins says he interacts with the groups "every day, in the morning and at night," on his way to and from City Hall. He said he calls them out on behavior such as smoking or foul language, moves them along himself if they are in the gazebo and calls in the police to follow up, offers life advice on occasion.

GF Police Chief: What we can and can't do

Glens Falls Police Chief Jared Smith told The Chronicle, via email, that his goal regarding so-called "day-spenders" in Glens Falls City Park "is to protect public safety."

"We are doing this in two ways: We attempt to find services for those who need them and are ready to accept them." Meanwhile, "the record shows that the department is prepared to take law enforcement action when that is appropriate."

Chief Smith said, "A confusing part about disorderly conduct that most don't understand is that there needs to be a victim, a member of the public willing to call, then willing to follow up and go to court to testify to what they witnessed."

"Most of the complaints we receive that are not enforceable are what most people refer to mistakenly as 'loitering.'"

Citing state penal law, he said, "Loitering is not 'hanging out.'...Simply being in the park during the hours that it is open is not illegal."

City Park day spenders

I, the Mayor, are doing" — formally in the case of Police Social Worker Darlene Hafner's daily efforts, and informally in the Mayor's own interactions with the group.

"That is saying that we are addressing it," the Mayor says. But I do appreciate that you, community member, are frustrated."

He says, "If you're uncomfortable and you're feeling threatened in any way, call right away. I don't care if it's a legal offense or not. It gets us over there one more time, and we want to be over there, and we want to help you to feel as comfortable as we can.

"Can I arrest them for swearing in front of you, or even if it's swearing at you? I can't. And, if they have done something that is arrestable, I need you to help me, fill out a report, and I need you to help me follow up with that."

Not a sanctuary, not comfortable

"We don't want to be a sanctuary city where we're providing services to make this the favorite hangout of all the 600 people that we just identified might be struggling here in Glens Falls, but I also don't want to be that guy who's pushing people, just either putting them in jail or pushing them out of my park to go and just scatter throughout the community, either."

The Mayor hopes to engage social services providers, non-profits, church groups and others "to engage these folks on an ongoing basis," to be ready, "if they've reached a bottom that day, they want help, and they're willing to look in the mirror, that somebody's around that could provide those services.

"I also am hoping maybe it makes them a little uncomfortable.

"I don't want that to be the most comfortable place for them to hang out, but I also don't want to be the person who's rushing them out.

"These folks do exist. They're having a bad day, and they come to hang out with their friends. They just lost their job, they lost the brakes on the car, and this is the place that they're hanging out.

"So I want to do both. I want to engage them, and I wouldn't mind it if it was a little less comfortable place."

"I think I'm trying to do a great job as mayor. I don't have any delusions that I can solve this societal problem. It is growing, and we need to do everything we can to help and get those services to those people as best we can.

"We also need our park to not be the most popular hangout place while we wait for them to hit a bottom."

Steps City has taken

In August, the Glens Falls Common Council changed the "dusk to dawn" rule for hours that parks are open in the City to include City Park, which was previously explicitly excluded from the code.

The City and Crandall Library have locked or shut off power to outlets around the City Park bandstand, on streetlights and on the exterior of the Library. These were being used to charge phones "and even operate a coffee pod machine."

Crandall Library reduced the reach of its free WiFi into the park.

Security cameras were added, adjusted and increased, per a report from the City.

The mayor said a "very rough" estimate is there are about 200 homeless or unhoused individuals around Glens Falls. That's not hard data, but anecdotal, he urges, based on individuals who used Open Door's Code Blue emergency shelter over the prior two winters.

He estimates twice as many — again, unscientifically — "in and out of homelessness, or on the rocks."

Library: Welcome to all, but if you break rules, you're out

Crandall Public Library Executive Director Kathy Naftaly says of individuals hanging out in City Park, and coming into the library to use facilities, Internet, electricity for chargers, and to warm up, "as all people, they are welcome to come in the library, as long as they follow our rules of civility.

"But we are very firm that if you don't, then you're going to be out...then they are not welcome for the rest of the winter."

"We are prepared for changes in the weather and any actions we need to take for this behavior," as the weather gets colder.

"We've been working with the Police Department and city administration about the folks in the park. And we've also been working with Darlene (Hafner, Glens Falls Police Department Social Worker), to better understand what is actually happening.

"We had a group meeting with the community about our unhoused situation. We may have to do that again. Tough situations are in our backyard, and as a community, we can best approach it together."

Would you want to be President? Why or why not?

Julian Dacey and Mrs. Novak

Not the job for me

No, I would not want to be President because there are more than just financial responsibilities. You would have to choose to fight with other countries for land. You would have to choose to enforce laws and deal with protests and more. I think this job would be harder than it seems, and it's not the job for me.

Julian Dacey
Gr. 4, Mrs. Novak
Abraham Wing Elem. School, GF

Give vote to kids, only for 5 & up

Yes, I would be President. I would let kids vote because I think it is not fair that they can't. We have a lot to say. I do agree that kids five and younger should not be able to vote yet.

Bridgett Howsberger
Gr. 3, Mrs. Tyler
Argyle Central School

Make America Great

I would want to be President because I could "make America great again." I would lower gas prices and make life better for people. I would also have a lot of power over people. I would lower prices for groceries too because there are a lot of people who can't afford food. As I said before, if I could be president I would "make America great again."

Ben Sexton
Gr. 5, Mrs. Soprano
Fort Ann Elementary School

A lot of changes

I would want to be President because I would make a lot of changes. First, I would lower prices of stuff so they're cheaper and so families who are struggling with money can now get stuff since they are cheaper. Next, I would fix roads, sidewalks, and homes for free. That way they can live worry free. Finally I would lower taxes

Jovanni Becerra

Half the country despises you

Believe me, I would not want to be President. For example, half the country absolutely despises you, and I really wouldn't like that at all. Also political stuff is bo-ring.

You would first have to be a candidate, then you would have to win that thing, then you would have to run for President, then you would have to win an election and then that only lasts 4-8 years.

It's a hard job I'm not interested in. That is why I do not want to be president.

Make the country a better place

Yes I would love to be President because I could make the country a better place, and I have always wanted to be President of the United States of America. I love my country and I would take care of my country and help people in need of help.

Hague Town Council
Three year unexpired term

Christopher Richards

Democratic

I came to Hague in 2015 and currently work as the facilities director for Fort Ticonderoga.

In July, I was unanimously appointed by the Town Board to fill Steve Ramant's unexpired term. In this election, I am honored to have the endorsement of Town Board members from both parties, which I view as a testament to how well we work together.

My diverse skill set and knowledge base can benefit the Town of Hague in many ways.

My main goals are to support small business, promote competitive wages for town employees, protect our natural resources, advance affordable housing, and manage short-term rentals for the benefit of all who live in and enjoy our community.

I ask for your support on November 5 so we can continue to move the town forward into a future that is good for everyone in Hague. Let's keep the positive momentum and cohesiveness going!

Lara Smith-Ryder

Republican

My name is Lara Smith Ryder. I have been a full time resident of Hague since 2004 and have summered here since 1968.

While raising four wonderful sons as a single parent, I was also a self-employed business owner for 25 years, operating two successful businesses, including a local business, Meadowbrook Acres Boarding & Grooming, from 2009 to 2019.

I am now "semi-retired" and enjoy substitute teaching at Ticonderoga School. I have a great love for the Adirondacks and, to an even greater extent, our town. I believe that we need a voice that will convey accurate and fair representation for the community and for the issues that directly affect us which include, but are not limited to, a new highway department, competitive wages for town employees, and a new visitors center that is practical without being excessive.

It would be an honor to serve the fellow members of this community.

Horicon Town Council
One year unexpired term
(Vote for up to two)

Diane C. Dreyer

Democratic

I'm Dianne Dreyer, running for Horicon's Town Council. I've been coming to Brant Lake for 62 years, living here with my husband full time for the last 22.

Our town and this region face many complex challenges. They include: a declining and aging population, the changing climate, and a potential rise in taxes.

Such taxes may force people who've lived here for generations — and our young people — to leave.

We must get in front of these issues and work together to support a community that asks people to dream big and helps them turn those dreams into opportunities.

Living in the Adirondacks is a privilege. Millions of people on this planet will never even see the stars. We need to protect the land, air and water in our care and use these precious resources in ways that support us and all living things.

I know we can do it.

John P. Francisco

Republican

To: Horicon Residents

I am currently campaigning for Town Councilman.

I am 67 years old and was raised in and still live in Brant Lake. I've been married for 40 years and have two sons and a grandson. I have always thought of running for the Town Board and now after exiting the Fire Company, of which I was a member for 30-plus years, I feel that I will have time to devote to the people of the Town of Horicon. I am a Republican (pretty Conservative) but with any issue or proposal the solution should always be in the best interest of this Town and its people.

I hope I will have the opportunity to become a board member and make a difference. Thank you.

Teri Schuerlein

Republican

Declined to submit statement.

would be less offensive. Something along the lines of "Let's eat kids" versus "Let's eat, kids." See, this is entirely different and non-threatening to children.

I am joking, of course. Is the addition of an "!" too expensive? Punctuation matters.

The Cooper's Cave Composers Consortium returns to The Strand Theatre in Hudson Falls on Sunday, Nov. 3, at 3 p.m. for the loosely organized group's third annual concert of original music written and performed by local and Capital Region composers. Suggested donation: $20, $15 student and senior, cash only at the door. "No one turned away for lack of funds," they add. The Consortium was founded in 2022 by cellist Anthime Miller and pianist Catherine Reid, both to showcase original music by local composers, "and to foster collaboration between composers at all levels and stages of their respective careers," they say. This year's program includes "world premieres, sneak peaks and old favorites, all composed right here in our own beautiful backyard," they tout. New and returning composers in addition Anthime and Catherine, are Greg Auffredou, John Benware, Stephen Gallucci, Lucas Garrett, J.P. Hubbs, Elizabeth Woodbury Kadius, Brendan Klippel, Jonathan Newell, Ben Rowley, Mickie Wadsworth and Adam York. Managing Editor Cathy DeDe's added note: Highly recommended program, simply as a celebration of music made here, or by people who are from here. Last year showcased much impressive music of all stripes in a serious but light-hearted setting. It's also an on-stage reminder to student musicians that you can make a life in music after your schooling, and have fun doing so.

If Trumps wins? Dems back the rule of law

To the Editor:

[This is in] response to your editorial ["What if Trump wins?"].

If Donald Trump had won in 2020 there would have been deep disappointment but I don't believe riots would have taken place.

In 2016 when Donald Trump won the presidential election there was a peaceful march in Washington, no destruction, no attempt to stop the peaceful transfer of power.

The January 6th insurrection that took place at our Capitol should have outraged all Americans.

It is disheartening that for half the country it has become just a shrug of the shoulders, no big deal.

To the Trump supporters there is nothing he can say or do that will deter them from supporting this man. Not his threats and acts of revenge nor his disparaging Veterans or speaking of being a dictator....again, just a shrug of the shoulders.

When the likes of Dick Cheney will vote for Kamala Harris and the two hundred Republicans who served in Trump's administration do not support him because they state he is a danger to our country we should all pay attention.

There is something dangerous and assiduous afoot in this country and God help us all if it is not stopped by voting for a rational party that cares about the rule of law and moving our country forward.

— Patricia Lanne, Granville

Mr. Frost:

Don't be disingenuous. If President Trump wins we can realistically expect some scathing SNL skits, a few harshly worded Academy award acceptance speeches, and nationwide women's protest marches. If he loses we can realistically expect violence, bloodshed and division.

— Mark Cusson

Hi Mark,

I am more worried about the concentration camps and loss of benefits if 45 wins more than the possibility of riots if Kamala does. It will take this country forty years to recover from project 2025.

— Joe, Mechanicville, NY

LeClairs back Woerner

To the Editor:

We do not have to think about who we are voting for as our local Assemblyperson. We know who will be available when we need assistance in many ways.

For us right now, the most important thing we can do is to keep fighting to stop Saratoga Biochar from locating in the Moreau Industrial Park, right in the center of thousands of homes in Moreau, South Glens Falls, Hudson Falls, Ft Edward, Kingsbury, Glens Falls, Queensbury and more.

We have the highest cancer rates in NYS from all the past and current industrial pollution from General Electric, Wheelabrator, Sterogenics and others who came to town with big promises and left us with cancer, lung disease, polluted lands, air and a polluted Hudson

Strough for Kim Bullard

To the Editor:

I will offer you five good reasons as to why Kimberly Bullard is the best candidate for the Town of Queensbury's Ward 2 position on the Town Board.

First: Kimberly is a Town of Queensbury small business owner. As such, she brings her local business acumen to the Town Board table. In 2018 she was awarded Manager of the Decade.

Second: Because Kimberly has volunteered to be on the Town's Planning Board, she has experience with the Town's zoning code and community management. Her opponent has no such experience.

Third: Kimberly's political boss is not on the Town Board; therefore, Kimberly will make decisions that are best for the Town and not best for her political party. Her opponent cannot make the same claim. In addition to that, a balanced Town Board works better for you!

Fourth: Kimberly, unlike her opponent, will not be making false claims in the attempt to fool you into voting for her. She has a history of being honest, doing her homework, and use a meaningful and straight-forward approach.

Fifth: Living in Queensbury for over 30 years, Kimberly has a much more River.

None of us want or deserve more industrial pollution. We need someone who will continue to support us thorough our continued battle, answer our questions, offer ideas on actions we can take, speak out at all levels of government for us, someone who spoke out boldly in support of all of us all at the recent DEC public hearing letting them know the Moreau Industrial Park is a bad place to allow a sewage sludge burning facility such as Saratoga Biochar.

Our battle to stop Saratoga Biochar will continue into 2025. It is imperative that we remember that as we walk into the polls. In 2025 we need Assembly Woman Carrie Woerner as much as ever to be in our corner. She has proven her unwavering support to help us protect our families, our home values, environment and quality of life above all other higher-level officials.

Please join us in reelecting Assemblywoman Carrie Woerner. She is an important part of the team that has worked together tirelessly to protect all our families and friends.

— Gina and Bob LeClair, Moreau

Mark, don't back Harris

Mark,

I have read the Chronicle for decades and decades and have always respected you for your shades of gray and not black and white.

I understand that with your slight case of TDS you don't like Trump and can't endorse him but please don't lose some of my respect for you as a journalist and endorse word salad Harris.

Why would you ever consider her worth being president when she and dementia Joe have been a complete failure for 4 years now? Her one main job was the border, and it has been a disaster for America. Ask yourself one honest question, if China, Russia, North Korea and Iran are on one side of the table can you honestly say word salad Harris could or would be able to hold her own against them with her laughing and cackling?

— Drew DiCroce, Glens Falls

How can they cheer Trump?

To the Editor:

It's hard for me to understand people cheering for Trump when he lies, insults, demeans, threatens, refuses to answer questions, uses vulgar gross words, targets groups who just want to live their authentic life, rouses hatred and fear in communities — violence against legal Haitian immigrants in Springfield or FEMA workers working to help communities suffering from climate disasters. Who chants "drill, baby, drill," says he would use military power to go after "the enemy within" — all not totally loyal to him, which could be me, or you — and who would terminate our Constitution. I think of truth-tellers — democrats, republicans, election workers, judges, jury members... — needing security to protect homes, families.

The difference isn't between democrat or republican but what we want/value. For greed, fossil fuels, big pharma, tobacco...lie about the harms of their products; for power and greed Stefanik, MAGA, Elon Musk spout Trump's lies and are silent about his danger; for more tax cuts some wealthy vote for more wealth.

Some feel superior — as a man or as white or as Christian — believing it sincere volunteer involvement in our community than her opponent: Zonta, Big Brother's Big Sister's, PTA President, Warren County Environmental Concerns Real Property & Tax Services task force regarding septic systems and our waterways, and much more. Received the Founders Day Award by Kensington School.

Please vote for the best candidate Kimberly Bullard as your Ward 2 representative on Queensbury's Town Board.

— John Strough, Queensbury

Supports Scott Gushlaw

Dear Editor:

As our town continues to grow, so do the challenges we face — from infrastructure needs, to balancing budgets, ensuring fiscal responsibility, and promoting economic development.

This year, as we consider the candidates running for Queensbury Ward 2, one name stands out for his unique ability to tackle these challenges head-on: Scott Gushlaw.

With an extensive background in finance, Scott is exactly the kind of leader our town needs. His proven experience managing budgets, analyzing financial data, and strategically allocating resources gives him an edge. In a time

Bogus letter purports to be Jerry DiManno faulting Elise; he supports her & Trump

Yet again this year, local people including The Chronicle are receiving a bogus letter sent from New York City that purports to be from Poopie's Restaurant owner Jerry DiManno in which he supposedly urges the recipient not to vote for Rep. Elise Stefanik.

Jerry called The Chronicle to denounce the letter. He is an ardent supporter of Rep. Stefanik and of re-electing President Trump.

their right to dominate, have power over another, who feel aggrieved and will use violence when their "right" is questioned.

Some are roused to violence against immigrants by Trump's vicious attacks against "vermin" and "rapists," but others welcome the "stranger who was ourselves," remembering we were all immigrants seeking a better life. Some who were bullied become bullies, as if a sign of manly strength, others defend, protect, respect.

I think of Biden and Harris, their hard work to make our lives better — lowering prescription drug prices, supporting women's right to have control over their own bodies, child tax credit, supporting workers, union, bringing manufacturing jobs back to our country, building our infrastructure...Of their deep empathy with victims of mass violence and those suffering from environmental disasters, of their legislation to combat human caused climate change (limiting drilling, fossil fuels), incentivize green energy, protect air, water, earth. I think how their "good work" has been called communist, fascist, marxist, dangerous.

Who helps? Who harms? What is precious and needs to be preserved and protected?

— Bernice Mennis, West Fort Ann

Trump rally at Garden like Nazis rally in 1930s

To: Mark Frost

Subject: Trump rally Madison sq garden

Well, if there was ever any question regarding the messages of the trump train lasts night performance sealed the deal. Why would he in the closing week do this in blue nyc in a venue that holds 9800 people? Optics !

This was the scene of the famous German Bund and America first rally in the 1930's. Anyone who wants to learn more there is volumes of documents and footage. Along with the usual suspects including Charles Lindbergh.

Jews were the primary victims back then. Trump's message included more victims but the message is the same the others are coming for you and I can save you.

Mark was right in his comments when Harris became the democrat presidential candidate, the rhetoric will only get worse and it's on steroids now. How this is a winning message nationally is confounding and where is the church??

During this same period in our history another character Father Charles Coughlin had over 30 million American citizens tune in weekly to his radio show spewing hate speech and division. The when careful financial stewardship is more important than ever, Scott is well-equipped to ensure our town's growth remains sustainable, equitable and resilient.

What truly sets Scott apart is his deep understanding of how sound financial policies can drive meaningful change in people's everyday lives. He doesn't just see the numbers — he sees the people behind them. He knows that by managing our town's resources wisely, we can invest in the projects that matter most, from public safety to infrastructure and affordable housing. He also understands that reducing waste and improving efficiency will lead to savings that can be reinvested in our communities.

During his career, Scott has consistently demonstrated an ability to work through complex problems and deliver results. Whether in the private sector, where he helped businesses thrive, or through community service, where he provided guidance to local nonprofits, his track record speaks volumes. It's one thing to talk about fiscal responsibility — Scott has lived it.

The choice is clear—vote for fiscal strength, vote for smart leadership, vote Scott Gushlaw for Ward 2.

— Eric J. Troelstra, Queensbury

church finally stepped in and shut it down.

This is poor optics for the so called leader of the world's democracy with the Statue of Liberty inscription give us your tired, your poor, your huddled masses written by a female Jewish author. Are there problems, should immigration be addressed, are prices high or how we navigate the world thru trade and hospitality? Sure, but agitating people with bull crap is not a solution and not the purpose of a democracy. We owe out strength in our ability to work in common cooperative groups, that's how humans succeed over other species. It's high time we understand our strengths and reject our weaknesses.

— Phil Kellogg, South Glens Falls

Biden, Harris 'cut from same cloth,' vote Trump

Hi Mark,

If this year's election season has shown us one thing, it is that Joe Biden and Kamala Harris both are empty suits, cut from the same cloth. Simply cardboard cutouts, fronting for a central committee that makes all their "decisions" for them.

Now my Democrat friends are so indoctrinated with Trump hate, fear-mongering and lies that they cannot see this. Their minds cannot be changed by facts. If Satan were to appear this evening and announce that he was running against Trump, tomorrow morning they would dutifully trot out their "Satan for President" yard signs.

So, this letter is not for them.

To Independents and undecided voters: Trump's policies gave us peace and prosperity. The central committee's policies have given us inflation, crime and war. Please think clearly. Do you want to vote for peace and prosperity? Or do you want to vote for inflation, crime and war?

Republicans: Please recognize that many elections are won or lost by a relatively small number of votes. A vastly larger number of votes are the ones that are not cast, because voters stayed home and did not participate. If you stay home and do not vote, you are still voting; in fact, you are voting for inflation, crime and war. Do you really want that to be your legacy? Please step up and help save this country for your children and grandchildren. Please cast your vote for peace and prosperity."

— Tom DuBois, Keene, NY

Stefanik defends our constitutional rights

To the Editor:

In an age where our constitutional rights are constantly under threat, I'm grateful for Congresswoman Elise Stefanik's steadfast commitment to defending the Constitution. From free speech to the right to bear arms, Elise Stefanik has consistently stood up for the values that make America great. Her opposition to overreaching federal regulations and her defense of individual liberties should serve as an example to all our elected officials.

As a proud Veteran and resident of the North Country, I am confident that Stefanik will continue to protect our freedoms and ensure that the government works for the people, not against them. She understands that our rights are non-negotiable. Vote to re-elect Congresswoman Elise Stefanik on November 5th!

— Maureen Patricia Watson, Queensbury

Our national debt has ballooned to unsustainable levels under the Biden administration, putting future generations at risk. Reckless spending and wasteful government programs are driving inflation and crippling our economy. Thankfully, leaders like Congresswoman Elise Stefanik are fighting for fiscal responsibility and sensible budgeting in Washington.

Stefanik knows that we can't keep spending money we don't have. Her support for reducing the federal deficit and holding the line on taxes will help ease the financial burden on hardworking families. We need more representatives who understand the importance of living within our means. Vote for Elise Stefanik on November 5th!

— Eliana Crocitto
