Billy Floyd: Thunder's 'Locked In' vibe maker

By Cathy DeDe
Chronicle Managing Editor

If you've been to Adirondack Thunder hockey games, you know Billy Floyd.

In his sweet suits, white sneakers and endless smiles, he bounds around Cool Insuring Arena, running trivia and other between-period contests on the Jumbotron, high-fiving little kids, shooting T-shirts into the crowd, raising the audience energy level to 11.

Who is this 28-year-old of the Prince Charming good looks, eye-to-eye connection and seemingly endless enthusiasm?

Does he really wake up "happy every day," as Thunder president and Cool Arena director Jeff Mead tells The Chronicle, "I truly believe."

Romeo buying Whiteman Chevy

By Zander Frost
Chronicle Chief Operating Officer

The Romeo family, who operate Romeo Toyota on Broad Street and Carriage Traders in South Glens Falls, are buying Whiteman Chevrolet on Dix Avenue, The Chronicle has learned.

ANOTHER CHRONICLE EXCLUSIVE

Mike Romeo confirmed the purchase plan. He said Tuesday completion of the sale is expected in early December, and that Chevrolet has approved transfer of the new car franchise.

Amy Whiteman Brown, the dealer-principal at Whiteman Chevrolet, told The Chronicle, "I think it's great for the future of

Sticker Mule CEO seeks Stefanik seat

By Ben Westcott
Chronicle Staff Writer

Anthony Constantino, CEO of Sticker Mule, the Amsterdam, NY-based international custom printing company, is running for the New York 21st Congressional District seat expected to be vacated when Elise

Stefanik becomes the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations in January, Fox News reported Sunday. The Fox article said Mr. Constantino, 40, was "formerly a registered Democrat."

Mr. Constantino told The Chronicle Tuesday in a text exchange he changed his registration to Republican last week, and noted, "I donated to and voted for President Trump in 2016, 2020 and 2024."

"I registered Democrat in 2018 to support a friend in his primary for Mayor of Albany.... Didn't bother to change the
